BRIAN K. WHITE,

Plaintiff,

-against-

WARNER MUSIC GROUP; 300
ENTERTAINMENT SPARTA
DISTRIBUTION,

Defendants.

22-CV-7414 (LTS)

ORDER TO AMEND

LAURA TAYLOR SWAIN, Chief United States District Judge:

Plaintiff Brian K. White (“White”), who is appearing pro se, brings this action asserting state law claims regarding a contract involving the ownership of his music. He also alleges that Defendants infringed on his copyrighted material.¹ By order dated October 21, 2022, the Court granted Plaintiff’s request to proceed in forma pauperis (“IFP”), that is, without prepayment of fees. For the reasons set forth below, the Court grants Plaintiff leave to file an amended complaint within 60 days of the date of this order.

STANDARD OF REVIEW

The Court must dismiss an IFP complaint, or any portion of the complaint, that is frivolous or malicious, fails to state a claim on which relief may be granted, or seeks monetary relief from a defendant who is immune from such relief. 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B); see Livingston v. Adirondack Beverage Co., 141 F.3d 434, 437 (2d Cir. 1998). The Court must also dismiss a complaint when the Court lacks subject matter jurisdiction of the claims raised. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(h)(3).

While the law mandates dismissal on any of these grounds, the Court is obliged to construe pro se pleadings liberally, Harris v. Mills, 572 F.3d 66, 72 (2d Cir. 2009), and interpret them to raise the “strongest [claims] that they suggest,” Triestman v. Fed. Bureau of Prisons, 470 F.3d 471, 474 (2d Cir. 2006) (internal quotation marks and citations omitted) (emphasis in original). But the “special solicitude” in pro se cases, id. at 475 (citation omitted), has its limits – to state a claim, pro se pleadings still must comply with Rule 8 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, which requires a complaint to make a short and plain statement showing that the pleader is entitled to relief.

BACKGROUND

The following facts are drawn from the complaint. For over 23 years, White, who also goes by the names DJ Coldblooded, Brian Psalms, and Amir Beats, “has been sending email messages demos to the Legend Kevin Liles, Rob Stevenson, and Lyor Cohen even while Mr. White was in Trenton Psychiatric hospital.”² (ECF 2, at 1.) At some point, “Liles scammed me thinking I had a recording contract.” (Id.) “Sparta owns m[y] publishing and their saying they own my songs, however, I was mentally ill when I signed that publishing agreement.” (Id. at 2.) Plaintiff contends he has “not received a publishing check not one time.” (Id.)

Recently, Liles “started hurting my artist with play aka spins and playlisting, he was even using bots.” (Id.) For example, “[e]very time I have a release, something weird happens, like the release does not go out, meaning if you do not check, there could be a possibility that one streaming site did not get it.” (Id.)

Plaintiff contends, “my mental health is [deteriorating] fast because I do not have any money. I’m waiting on my publishing check, and all the staff [know] this.” (Id.) Plaintiff states that he was hospitalized on September 28, 2022, “due to [Sparta’s] . . . refusing to pay me my money.” (Id.) He argues that he “should own all my music but where’s the money they got paid 400,000,000.” (Id.) Plaintiff states, “I need my publishing check and my copyright. This is my music not Liles, Stevenson, or Cohen, or [Sparta].” (Id.)

Following the filing of this complaint, Plaintiff submitted letters requesting that the following individuals and entities be added to the action as defendants: Kobalt, Paramount Pictures Corporation, and Pandora. (ECF 5, 12, 15.) He also asserts new facts related to his claims in several letters. (ECF 7-11.)

Plaintiff resides in New Jersey and alleges that Defendants are located in New York, New York. He seeks: (1) declaratory relief stating that Defendants’ conduct violated his constitutional and federal rights; (2) an “[o]rder . . . for all the releases publishing include and the 40,000 jewelry,” and (3) money damages in the amount of “$9,000,000.00 for emotional pain, lost wages, blackballing, setting up for failure, hospitalization caused and for public humiliation, and defamation of character.” (Id. at 4.)

DISCUSSION

Rule 8 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure requires a complaint to make a short and plain statement showing that the pleader is entitled to relief. A complaint states a claim for relief if it includes factual allegations sufficient to render the claim plausible. Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678-79 (2009) (citing Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555 (2007)). To review a complaint for plausibility, the Court accepts all well-pleaded factual allegations as true and draws all reasonable inferences in the pleader's favor. Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 678-79 (citing Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555). The Court need not accept, however, "[t]hreadbare recitals of the elements of a cause of action," which are essentially legal conclusions. Id. at 678 (citing Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555). After separating legal conclusions from well-pleaded factual allegations, the court must determine whether those facts make it plausible – not merely possible – that the pleader is entitled to relief. Id.

Here, the Court cannot discern what claim Plaintiff seeks to assert. On the one hand, he alleges that Defendants have breached a contract, in which Defendants took ownership of Plaintiff's copyright in exchange for publishing royalties paid to Plaintiff. On the other, he also alleges that, when he signed the agreement, he was not competent to do so, and it therefore appears that he is challenging the validity of the alleged agreement. Plaintiff does not, however, state when any such agreement was signed, when it was first breached, how often it has been breached, or on what basis he argues he is entitled to publishing royalties.

Plaintiff also appears to bring a copyright infringement claim, which would suggest that he and Defendants did not enter a publishing contract.

The Court therefore grants Plaintiff leave to file an amended complaint clarifying his claims against the named Defendants in this action – that is, Sparta and Warner Music – and stating facts showing whether he is asserting copyright or contract claims against each Defendant.³

³ As noted above, Plaintiff states that the parties are diverse and the amount in controversy exceeds $75,000. Accordingly, the Court finds that it may exercise diversity jurisdiction of any state law claim Plaintiff seeks to bring against the named defendants. Should he add defendants in any amended complaint, those defendants also must be diverse, that is, they cannot reside in New Jersey, Plaintiff's domicile.

LEAVE TO AMEND

Plaintiff proceeds in this matter without the benefit of an attorney. District courts generally should grant a self-represented plaintiff an opportunity to amend a complaint to cure its defects, unless amendment would be futile. See Hill v. Curcione, 657 F.3d 116, 123-24 (2d Cir. 2011); Salahuddin v. Cuomo, 861 F.2d 40, 42 (2d Cir. 1988). Indeed, the Second Circuit has cautioned that district courts “should not dismiss [a pro se complaint] without granting leave to amend at least once when a liberal reading of the complaint gives any indication that a valid claim might be stated.” Cuoco v. Moritsugu, 222 F.3d 99, 112 (2d Cir. 2000) (quoting Gomez v. USAA Fed. Sav. Bank, 171 F.3d 794, 795 (2d Cir. 1999)).

Because Plaintiff may be able to allege additional facts to state either a valid breach of contract claim or a copyright claim, the Court grants Plaintiff 60 days’ leave to amend his complaint to detail his claims.

Plaintiff is granted leave to amend his complaint to provide more facts about his claims. In the “Statement of Claim” section of the amended complaint form, Plaintiff must provide a short and plain statement of the relevant facts supporting each claim against each defendant. If Plaintiff has an address for any named defendant, Plaintiff must provide it. Plaintiff should include all of the information in the amended complaint that Plaintiff wants the Court to consider in deciding whether the amended complaint states a claim for relief. That information should include:

- a) the names and titles of all relevant people;
- b) a description of all relevant events, including what each defendant did or failed to do, the approximate date and time of each event, and the general location where each event occurred;
- c) a description of the injuries Plaintiff suffered; and

- d) the relief Plaintiff seeks, such as money damages, injunctive relief, or declaratory relief.

Essentially, Plaintiff's amended complaint should tell the Court: who violated his federally protected rights and how; when and where such violations occurred; and why Plaintiff is entitled to relief.

Because Plaintiff's amended complaint will completely replace, not supplement, the original complaint, any facts or claims that Plaintiff wants to include from the original complaint must be repeated in the amended complaint.

NEW YORK LEGAL ASSISTANCE GROUP

Plaintiff may consider contacting the New York Legal Assistance Group's ("NYLAG") Clinic for Pro Se Litigants in the Southern District of New York, which is a free legal clinic staffed by attorneys and paralegals who assist people who are representing themselves in civil lawsuits in this court. The clinic is run by a private organization; it is not part of, or run by, the court. It cannot accept filings on behalf of the court, which must still be made by any pro se party through the Pro Se Intake Unit. A copy of the flyer with details of the clinic is attached to this order.

CONCLUSION

Plaintiff is granted leave to file an amended complaint that complies with the standards set forth above. Plaintiff must submit the amended complaint to this Court's Pro Se Intake Unit within sixty days of the date of this order, caption the document as an "Amended Complaint," and label the document with docket number 22-CV-7414 (LTS). An Amended Complaint form is attached to this order. No summons will issue at this time. If Plaintiff fails to comply within the time allowed, and he cannot show good cause to excuse such failure, the complaint will be dismissed for failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted.

The Court certifies under 28 U.S.C. § 1915(a)(3) that any appeal from this order would not be taken in good faith, and therefore IFP status is denied for the purpose of an appeal. Cf. Coppedge v. United States, 369 U.S. 438, 444-45 (1962) (holding that an appellant demonstrates good faith when he seeks review of a nonfrivolous issue).

I. BASIS FOR JURISDICTION

Federal courts are courts of limited jurisdiction (limited power). Generally, only two types of cases can be heard in federal court: cases involving a federal question and cases involving diversity of citizenship of the parties. Under 28 U.S.C. § 1331, a case arising under the United States Constitution or federal laws or treaties is a federal question case. Under 28 U.S.C. § 1332, a case in which a citizen of one State sues a citizen of another State or nation, and the amount in controversy is more than $75,000, is a diversity case. In a diversity case, no defendant may be a citizen of the same State as any plaintiff.

What is the basis for federal-court jurisdiction in your case?
